

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman. I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs. Women who suffer from these distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

Simply a Waste of Money

Old Sexton Had His Time Mapped Out, and There Was No Need of a Clock.

There had been some talk of placing a clock in the tower of the village church. But John, the old sexton, who lived in the little cottage opposite the church, declared himself "dead again," and expressed the opinion that it would mean "an awful waste of brass" were the scheme carried out.

"We want no clocks," he said the other day. "We've done without clocks up to now, and we shall manage 'Why, tyin' 't my bed of a mornin' I can see the time by the sundial over the porch."

"Yes," replied one who approved of the scheme, "that's all right so far as it goes. But the sun doesn't shine every morning. What do you do then?"

"Why," answered John, surprisedly, "I knows then as it ain't fit weather to be out o' bed, and I just stops where I is."—The Bits.

DRIVER OF MANY CHAMPIONS

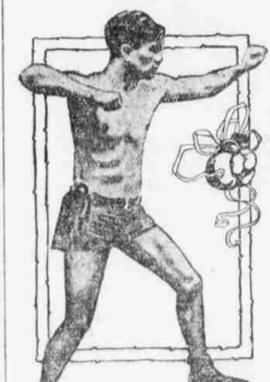

Ed Geers, Noted Horseman.

According to late reports one of the trotters upon which "Pop" Geers will rely to get the money in the Grand Circuit Stakes next season will be the bay six-year-old stallion, The Huguenot, who took a record of 2:27 1/4 two years ago. More than the usual amount of interest attaches to this horse on account of his relationship to two of the most famous horses in the history of the harness turf, both of which were trained and raced to their best records by Geers. These are The Abbott (2:03 1/4), former world's champion trotter, and The Abbe (2:04), the unbeaten pacer of the past season, who won no less than eleven straight races for Geers, including the Chamber of Commerce, at Detroit, losing but one single heat the entire season. These horses are full brothers to The Huguenot, being bred by Chimes, one of the famous brood mare Nettie King, by Mambrino King, and all are products of the famous Village Farm, where the Silent Man was for so many years head trainer.

WOLGAST TO FIGHT NELSON

Champion Lightweight Announces Will Give "Battle" Return Match Some Time in Spring.

Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion, has come out of his hole and again announces that he will be ready to fight with the birth of the new year—provided, of course, his broken arm will allow him. Wolgast says that he will take Nelson on again, probably in February or March.

The announcement that Wolgast was ready to battle again to protect his title did not come until after Nelson had made a poor showing against La Grave in San Francisco and convinced all that he cannot come back.

The statement of Wolgast follows: "I have assured Nelson that he needn't worry for a minute about getting another crack at Wolgast, who would rather box the battler than to any other fighter in the world. Wolgast knows he can beat Nelson again, and besides there isn't another man with whom he can draw so much money."

Since defeating Nelson last February, Wolgast has refused to meet Pal Moore, Abe Attell, Pacey McFarland, Lew Poyell, Jack Goodman and others, which is not in accordance with the policy of Gans, Lavigne, Erne, McAuliffe and other titleholders in this class.

Swimmer Falls to Lower Record. F. E. Brennan, the Australian swimming champion and winner of the 100, 200, 400 and 800, and half mile and mile championships of England this summer, recently made an unsuccessful attempt to lower the world's 440-yard record of five minutes 26 2/5 seconds, his time being three and one-fifth seconds slower.

beat the 2:03 1/4 of "sweet little Alix," and he held the honors for a year, when the bulldog trotter from Toledo, Cresceus, came along and wrested his laurels from him. The Village Farm horse, however, compelled Cresceus to trot to the world's record of 2:03 1/4 in a race, a record which has stood for eight years as the best contested heat, the ill-fated Hamburg Belle being the first to surpass it when she took the measure of Uhlán in the memorable match race at North Randall.

PLAN BIG FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Vic Kennard and Other Harvard Players Trying to Organize Professional Association.

Vic Kennard, star football player of Harvard, '05, '07 and '08, is in St. Louis.

He will be joined within a day or so by two other Harvard stars, Harry Kersburg, guard of '07 and '08, and Mert Newhall, quarterback of '06 and '07, who are looking over the situation for a national professional football league. For this purpose they are consulting with football players, coaches and lovers of the game in the large cities and finding their opinion before any attempt will be made to launch the organization.

They will remain in St. Louis for three or four days before going elsewhere. Professional football, it is held, has been tried in some states successfully, and Kennard holds that it might work as successfully in the league form as baseball, holding sway in winter as baseball does in summer.

Racing Pigeon Union.

The American Racing Pigeon union was organized in Washington the other day by fanciers of carrier birds. Delegates from a number of cities were in attendance at the meeting, which concluded with a banquet. The organization will institute pigeon fights for records and prizes.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Quarterback McGovern of Minnesota has become the "Terrible Terry" to Michigan's football hopes.

Wrestling managers nowadays are thinking more of the gate, it seems, than of arranging meritorious matches. Brains and not speed and brawn is the asset that brings home the bacon in football, according to Walter Camp.

Instead of taking orders from others, Joseph Planner, secretary to President Johnson of the American league, will hereafter give out assignments as editor of the Sporting News, a weekly baseball newspaper, published by St. Louis.

STUDY BATTING AND BATTERS

Bo Says Willie Keeler, One of the Best All-Around Players Ever Seen on a Diamond.

BY WILLIE KEELER. (Copyright, 1910, by Joseph D. Bowles.)

The study of batting and of batters has done more for me in winning games and helping the team than anything else. I want to be near where the ball is hit, rather than to have to make a hard catch, perhaps lose the ball entirely or catch it too much out of position to make a throw. Naturally, through long experience I know where batters hit any given kind of pitched ball, but the modern game changes so rapidly a fielder has to keep studying all the time to keep up with it. The batters change their styles sometimes in a few days, and I have seen many games lost by fielders misplaying a batter who has changed his direction of hitting. In order to keep up with the game I read and study the scores every morning to see how each man is hitting and the general direction of his hits, and I take into consideration the pitchers against whom he has been batting. At the end of the week I get all the scores in some sporting paper and take each man separately and go through all the games to study his hitting. In that way I generally know just what each batter is likely to do, and I play for him accordingly.

The study of fielders by batters is almost as important, especially for fast men who can hit toward certain points. Indeed, I think this is one of the most neglected points in baseball. No man can hit a ball to any point he wants to, but many can accomplish the feat a fair percentage of times. When at bat or on the bench I study the positions taken by the opposing players, and very frequently Willie Keeler.

It is possible to catch a player out of position or pull him out of position and hit into his territory. Pulling a third baseman in by pretending to bunt and then poking the ball over his head or hitting it fast past him has won many games.

My advice to outfielders is to learn to catch a ball in position and always to plan out plays in advance. The moment a runner reaches a base plan what can be done on any given kind of batted ball, and figure what the runners are likely to do. Get to the point where the batter is most likely to hit, catch the ball as nearly in position to throw as possible and, last and most important, get the ball back to the infield as fast as you can.

EVANS AIDS GOLF MOVEMENT

Champion Suggests Western Intercollegiate Body—Meeting to be Called to Form Organization.

Western Open Champion Charles Evans, Jr., of the Northwestern University, is at the head of a movement to form a Western Intercollegiate Golf association, similar to that in vogue among the eastern universities.

With Evans in the plan are Kenneth Layman and Harry Kimbark of Chicago, who are at Wisconsin; Phil Stanton of Grand Rapids, who is at Michigan, and Lynn Johnson, who is at Minnesota.

An invitation to Chicago, Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota to send representatives to a meeting will be extended the main difficulty being to find a convenient time for all to be present. At this meeting the organization will be launched, as enough promises of support have been received to warrant making a start.

It is proposed to have an individual championship and a team championship the same as in the east, and the promoters hope the Western Golf association can be persuaded to donate prizes for both events.

Nelson in Hard Draw.

In one of the hardest battles ever seen between lightweights in San Francisco Battling Nelson, former champion, and Antone La Grave of San Francisco fought a fifteen round draw the other night.

Nelson came back apparently as good as ever and forced the fighting every step of the way. He was met half way at every stage of the battle, however, by the husky Frisco lad who seemed to give as good as the Danco could send throughout the mill.

The bout was fast from the start and the men never slowed down as the fierce work continued.

MAN ON HORSEBACK

FEARED AND RESPECTED BY WILD CATTLE OF WEST.

Bull and Wild Herd of Cattle Charge Railway Train and Terrorize Trainers, but Scurry Away When Cowboy Appears.

The old saying "Fear of man rests upon every beast" must be qualified in the case of the herds of half wild cattle that sometimes range the semi-arid regions of the west. It is a curious fact that such animals fear and respect a man who is mounted on a horse, but seem to have nothing but contempt for him when he is on foot.

The following case in point: A railway train slowly making its way through a herd grazing along the track was confronted by a large bull. He occupied the center of the road, and with lowered head was bellowing defiance at the engine. The engineer wishing not to injure the animal, stopped his train and sent the fireman, armed with a shovel, to drive him away.

Now, the fireman had courage enough, and the job to him seemed to offer no particular difficulty. So, boldly and confidently, with considerable brandishing of his shovel, he was proceeding to almost a striking distance, when with a rear the bull charged upon him.

The fireman sprang aside just in time to save himself, and when the bull turned and charged again the railway man dropped his shovel and sought safety on the top of a large boulder near by.

Unable to get to the man, the bull set up a frightful din that soon brought some 50 other members of the herd galloping about him. Quickly encircling the rock, they began rattling their long horns against it and trying to climb upon it, the man shrieking and trembling to its very center.

The engineer, thinking to aid the fireman, sprang to the ground armed with a coal pick, only to be chased back into the engine by a savage cow.

Then the engineer began to cast about for some other means of frightening the beasts, when a cowboy came riding toward the train. He was a welcome addition to the situation.

Taking in the railway men's predicament at a glance, he spurred his horse into a gallop, and uncoupling his rope, began swinging it in graceful circles about his head.

Soon the cows spied him, and their attitude was changed as if by magic. With lowered heads and tails thrown aloft, they scurried away, the bull in the lead, to lose themselves in the main body of the herd, while the fireman lost no time in regaining his engine.

Thus one man on horseback accomplished in a twinkling what two men on foot would never have achieved.

All Crows Suspects.

Tip was in a sleeping car of a train bringing back to New York the other day a crowd of delegates returning from a Young Men's Christian association convention, says the New York Press. The porter was an old acquaintance who always takes good care of Tip and his belongings. When Tip, after spending all evening in the smoking room, went to his berth for bed, he found his bag, overcoat, umbrella and books hidden away in various dark and mysterious places.

"Why, George," he asked, "what does this mean?"

"I ain't got no car tonight," whispered George.

"But, George, all these fellows are good, honest gentlemen, just coming from the Young Men's Christian association convention. They are to be trusted absolutely."

"I don't care, Mr. Tip, who they is," whispered George again; "they's a big crowd, and they ain't nobody you can trust in a big crowd on a sleeping car, and I ain't goin' to have no stealin'." I tells you, on this here car tonight."

Her Scheme Went Awry.

At a dinner last winter one of New York's prominent bankers was dilating on the dangers of deceit. By way of illustration he told of a society woman who saw in a jeweler's window a beautiful collar of pearls, which she wanted very much. Upon inquiry she learned the price was six thousand dollars. Thereupon she gave her check for $3,000, saying she would send her husband to see the pearls, and if he could be persuaded to buy them he was to be told the price was only $3,000.

The jeweler, being familiar with that sort of game, readily agreed. The husband called during the day to see the pearls, and that evening told his wife he had bought them, since they were evidently such a bargain. His wife was more than delighted, and immediately asked if he had brought home the collar, to which he replied: "Why, no, my dear; I had it sent to my mother. You know it is her birthday tomorrow."—The Sunday Magazine.

The Oldest Printing Press.

Typography, or the art of printing from movable type, was invented in Europe about the middle of the fifteenth century. Beyond this fact, the history of this far-reaching industry is very uncertain. It is generally considered that cut wooden type was first used, then cut leaden type, and that afterwards cast type was employed. William Caxton, in 1467, was the first to practice printing from movable type in England. The oldest type of printing press which, by this way, is now in the South Kensington museum, London, is the actual machine with which Benjamin Franklin worked in the year 1730. It is constructed of hard wood, mortised together; it carries two horizontal rails, upon which slides a carriage supporting the frame of composed type, called the forme. The type was inked by two large pads, or balls, with ink on their surfaces, the distribution of the ink being performed by working the pads together and then applying them to the forme.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING REDUCED

Much has been said about the high cost of living, the causes and the possibilities of its reduction. But little has been said about the most readily obtainable economy existing today in nearly every household.

Calumet Baking Powder is bought with but one point in view: "How cheap can I get it" without a thought of quality or after with it. One of the most serious is baking powder.

By the use of perfect baking powder the housewife can derive as much economy as from any other article used in baking and cooking. In selecting the baking powder, therefore, care should be exercised to purchase one that retains its original strength and always remains the same, thus making the food sweet and wholesome and producing sufficient leavening gas to make the baking light.

Very little of this leavening gas is produced by the cheap baking powders, making it necessary to use double the quantity ordinarily required to secure good results.

You cannot experiment every time you make a cake or biscuits, or test the strength of your baking powder to find out how much of it you should use; yet with most baking powders you should do this for they are not together so carefully they are never uniform, the quality and strength varying with each can purchased.

Calumet Baking Powder is made of chemically pure ingredients of tested strength. Experienced chemists put it up. The proportions of the different materials remains always the same. Sealed in air-tight cans, Calumet Baking Powder does not alter in strength and is not affected by atmospheric changes.

In using Calumet you are bound to have uniform bread, cake or biscuits, as Calumet does not contain any cheap, useless or adulterating ingredients so commonly used to increase the weight. Further, it produces pure, wholesome food, and is a baking powder of rare merit; therefore, it is recommended by leading physicians and chemists. It complies with all pure food laws, both of the NATIONAL A. S. and the pure moderate in price, and any lady purchasing Calumet from her grocer, if not satisfied with it, it returns it and have her money refunded.

Hardly a Compliment.

In the excitement of the moment public speakers often say the opposite of what they mean to convey, and "when Henry Irving gave a reading in the Ulster hall, in 1878," says Bram Stoker, in "Personal Reminiscences of Henry Irving," "one speaker made as pretty an Irish bull as could be found, though the bull is generally supposed to belong to other provinces than the hard-headed Ulster. In descending on the many virtues of the guest of the evening he mentioned the excellence of his moral nature and rectitude of his private life in these terms: 'Mr. Irving, sir, is a gentleman what leads a life of unbroken biennialism.'"

Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sore Throat will not live up to the name with Hamlin Wizard Oil, the best of all remedies for the relief of all pain.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—IT PAYS BETTER. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.
